McAllen, Texas - Food and agriculture will be emphasized in a four-county coin display in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas during National Coin Week.

A display of coins will be arranged by the Hidalgo Coin Club of McAllen in various bank in the four counties. The displays will be in charge of Mrs. Ada Lee Chisum, representative of the American Numismatic Association.

The coins depicting food and agriculture are being emphasized because the Texas Valley grows forty three varieties of winter vegetables and also is the big producer of oranges and grapefruit. It is expected ~~the~~ coin collectors from Mexico will place exhibits in the Texas banks, as some of the larger banking institutions of Northern Mexico are within from 12 blocks to 140 miles of the McAllen-Reynosa gateway to Mexico.
